

Belle

Belle

First Apperance

Animated Feature Film: Beauty and the Beast (1991)

Story

Belle is an intelligent, headstrong young woman who is held captive in the Beast's enchanted castle. She brings out the best in the Beast—who is actually a cursed prince—and begins to see something special in him. The Beast ultimately sets Belle free when he realizes that loving her is not enough to break the spell over him.

Belle returns to her village and discovers that Gaston, the town bully, is plotting to kill the Beast. She rushes back to the castle, professes her love to the wounded Beast, and breaks the spell—transforming the Beast back into a handsome prince.

Jiminy Cricket

Jiminy Cricket

First Apperance

Animated Feature Film: Pinocchio (1940)

Story

Jiminy Cricket watches Geppetto wish upon a star and ask for his little wooden puppet, Pinocchio, to become a real boy. When the Blue Fairy appears and brings the wooden puppet to life, she tells Pinocchio that he must prove himself worthy of being a real boy. She assigns Jiminy Cricket as Pinocchio's designated conscience to help him tell right from wrong.

Pinocchio and Jiminy Cricket experience a variety of unfortunate misadventures together, but Pinocchio ultimately finds his way and risks his life to save his father. The Blue Fairy recognizes Pinocchio's unselfish bravery by turning him into a real boy—and rewards Jiminy Cricket's services with a gold medal.
